	_
Student Name:	Date:

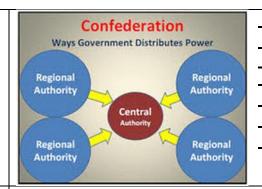

Civics 3rd Quarter Civics Study Guide

In completing this study guide, you will need to draw on your knowledge from throughout the 3rd nine weeks. You may even have to research topics you are not familiar with or may seem new to you

I.	Making the Constitution: (includes "The Articles of Confederation" (Chapter 5), "Preamble," and "Federalists vs. Anti-federalists")

Fill in the blanks in the	The Articles of was the	American Government.
right column with the	The replaced it after it	was, or approved, at the correct term below it.
	WORD BANK: 1st, Confederation, Constitution,	Constitutional Convention, ratified
Fill in the t-chart in the right column with major weaknesses of the Articles of Confederation. For each weakness, fill in the other side of the t-chart with an example of how the Constitution fixed it.	Weaknesses of the Articles 1. Example: The National Congress couldn't collect taxes. NOW FILL IN THE REST BELOW!	1. Example: Article I of the Constitution gives Congress the power to collect taxes from the people. NOW FILL IN THE REST BELOW!
In the spaces provided, explain the message of the political cartoon in the right column:	ARTICLES ONFEDERATION ONFEDERATION NO POWER TO ENFORCE LAWS "Rough Sailing Ahead?"	No de la constante de la const

How does the image to the right relate to the Articles of Confederation and its weaknesses?

DEFINE: Bicameral

Fill in the blanks in the chart in the column to the right using the word bank below it.

Plan	Virginia Plan
1 Legislative Chamber.	2 Legislative chambers, both	2 Legislative chambers.
Each state gets one vote.	based on	The is based on
This plan favored		equal votes. (two votes per
	This plan favored	state)
		The
		Is based on population.

Word Bank: big states, Great Compromise, House of Representatives, New Jersey, population, Senate, small states

Describe the Significance of Shay's
Rebellion in your own words. (use the political cartoon to help you out)

Fill in the t-chart in the column to the right with the statements below in the column you think it matches up with.

For example, for any statement you think describes a Federalist's viewpoints, you would write that into the "Federalist" column. If

)	Federalists	Both	Anti-federalists	_
n
۲
S

believed in American independence and freedom [Federalists, then you would write that statement into the "Both" column. What was the purpose of the Constitution needed a list of protected rightsthought the Constitution needed a list of protected rightsthought the Constitution may senough to preserve the citizens' rightsworried a list of rights might be seen as the ONLY rights that citizens hadagreed to the Bill of Rights as a compromise What was the purpose of the Federalist Papers? Read the primary source quotes in the right column from members of the Federalist parties. For each quote, determine whether it was said by a Federalist or Anti-Federalist. REASONING FOR EACH QUOTE. 1. "We are cautioned by the honorable gentleman, who presides, against faction and turbulence. Lacknowledge that itcentiousness is dangerous, and that it ought to be provided against: ty there is another thing it will as effectually do — it will oppress and ruin the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." -Robert Yates	you think the statement	Statements:
wanted the Constitution to be approved as-isfeared a strong central government statement into the "Both" column. What was the purpose of the Federalist Papers? Read the primary source quotes in the right column from members of the Federalist and Antifederalist parties. For each quote, determine whether it was said by a Federalist. BRIEFLY EXPLAIN YOUR REASONING FOR EACH QUOTE. In word a column to the provided against: lacknowledge, also, the new form of government may effectually revent: experient is and trubulence. I acknowledge that licentiousness is dangerous, and that it will oppress and ruin the people. "-Patrick Henry 4. "Nothing is more certain than the indispensable necessity of government, and it is equally undeniable, that whenever and however it is instituted, the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but key, if any, in which rules have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient government." 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then th	describes both Anti-	believed in American independence and freedom
	federalists and	opposed the Constitution as-is believed citizens had rights that should be protected thought the Constitution needed a list of protected rights thought the Constitution was enough to preserve the citizens' rights worried a list of rights might be seen as the ONLY rights that citizens had agreed to the Bill of Rights as a compromise What was the purpose of the Federalist Papers? Read the primary source quotes in the right column from members of the Federalist and Antifederalist parties. For each quote, determine whether it was said by a Federalist. BRIFELY EXPLAIN YOUR REASONING FOR EACH QUOTE. 1. "We are cautioned by the honorable gentleman, who presides, against faction and turbulence. I acknowledge that licentiousness is dangerous, and that it ought to be provided against: lacknowledge, also, the new form of government may effectually prevent it: yet there is another thing it will as effectually do — it will oppress and ruin the people." -Patrick Henry 5. "Wilhen the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people must cede to it some of their natural rights in order to vest it with requisite powers." -John Jay 5. "Wilhen the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people must cede to it some of their natural rights in order to vest it with requisite powers." -John Jay 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government, and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the can depart departments.	Federalists, then you	wanted the Constitution to be approved as-is
"Both" column. "thought the Constitution needed a list of protected rightsthought the Constitution was enough to preserve the citizens' rightsworried a list of rights might be seen as the ONLY rights that citizens hadagreed to the Bill of Rights as a compromise "Thomas Jefferson" 1. "Our country is too large to have all affairs directed by a single government." -Thomas Jefferson 1. "Our country is too large to have all affairs directed by a single government." -Thomas Jefferson 1. "Our country is too large to have all affairs directed by a single government." -Thomas Jefferson 1. "Our country is too large to have all affairs directed by a single government." -Thomas Jefferson 1. "Our country is too large to have all affairs directed by a single government." -Thomas Jefferson 1. "Our country is too large to have all affairs directed by a single government." -Thomas Jefferson 1. "Our country is too large to have all affairs directed by a single government." -Thomas Jefferson 1. "Our country is too large to have all affairs directed by a single government." -Thomas Jefferson 1. "Our country is too large to have all affairs directed by a single government." -Thomas Jefferson 1. "Our country is too large to have all affairs directed by a single government." -Thomas Jefferson 1. "Our country is too large to have all affairs directed by a single government." -Thomas Jefferson 1. "Our country is too large to have all affairs directed by a single government." -Thomas Jefferson 1. "Our country is too large to have all affairs directed by a single government." -Thomas Jefferson 1. "Our country is too large to have all affairs directed by a single government." -Thomas Jefferson 1. "Our country is too large to have lall affairs directed by a single government." -Thomas Jefferson 1. "Our country is too large to have lall affairs directed by a single government." -Thomas Jefferson 1. "Our country is too large to have lall affairs directed by a single government and the usurpost	would write that	feared a strong central government thought the Constitution was enough to preserve the citizens' rightsworried a list of rights might be seen as the ONLY rights that citizens hadagreed to the Bill of Rights as a compromise of the Federalist Papers? Read the primary source quotes in the right column from members of the Federalist and Antifiederalist parties. For each quote, determine whether it was said by a Federalist. BRIEFLY EXPLAIN YOUR REASONING FOR EACH QUOTE. 1. "Our country is too large to have all affairs directed by a single government." -Thomas Jefferson 1. "Our country is too large to have all affairs directed by a single government." -Thomas Jefferson 1. "Our country is too large to have all affairs directed by a single government." -Thomas Jefferson -Thomas Jefferson 1. "Our country is too large to have all affairs directed by a single government." -Thomas Jefferson -Thoma		-
What was the purpose of the Federalist Papers? Read the primary source quotes in the rederalist and triffederalist and triffederalist and triffederalist and triffederalist and triffederalist and triffederalist and said by a Federalist or Anti-Federalist. BRIEFLY EXPLAIN YOUR REASONING FOR EACH QUOTE. 1. "Our country is too large to have all affairs directed by a single government." -Thomas Jefferson right column from members of the federalist and triffederalist and triffederalist and trublence. I acknowledge that licentiousness is dangerous, and that it ought to be provided against. I acknowledge, also, the new form of government may effectually prevent it; yet there is another thing it will as effectually do — it will oppress and ruin the people." -Patrick Henry 4. "Nothing is more certain than the indispensable necessity of government, and it is equally undeniable, that whenever and however it is instituted, the people must cede to it some of their natural rights in order to vest it with requisite powers." -John Jay 5. "[W]hen the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government, and the surpations are guarded against, by a division of the government in dollined and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first d	"Both" column.
What was the purpose of the Federalist Papers? Read the primary source quotes in the right column from members of the Federalist and Antifederalist parties. For each quote, determine whether it was said by a Federalist. BRIEFLY EXPLAIN YOUR REASONING FOR EACH QUOTE. 2. In pursuance of the plan which I have laid down for the discussion of the subject, the point next in order to be examined is the "insufficiency of the present Confederation to the preservation of the Union." "Alexander Hamilton 3. "We are cautioned by the honorable gentleman, who presides, against faction and turbulence. I acknowledge that licentiousness is dangerous, and that it ought to be provided against: I acknowledge, also, the new form of government may effectually prevent it: yet there is another thing it will as effectually do — it will oppress and ruin the people." "Patrick Henry 4. "Nothing is more certain than the indispensable necessity of government, and it is equally undeniable, that whenever and however it is instituted, the people must cede to it some of their natural rights in order to vest it with requisite powers." "John Jay 5. "[W]hen the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly advided their authority. This is a sufficient reson to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government, and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the profiton allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of Open the people. The di
What was the purpose of the Federalist Papers? Read the primary source quotes in the right column from members of the Federalist and Antifederalist parties. For each quote, determine whether it was said by a Federalist or Anti-federalist. RIEFLY EXPLAIN YOUR REASONING FOR EACH QUOTE. 2. In pursuance of the plan which I have laid down for the discussion of the subject, the point next in order to be examined is the "insufficiency of the present Confederation to the preservation of the Union." -Alexander Hamilton determine whether it was said by a Federalist or Anti-federalist. 3. "We are cautioned by the honorable gentleman, who presides, against faction and turbulence. I acknowledge that licentiousness is dangerous, and that it ought to be provided against: I acknowledge, also, the new form of government may effectually prevent it; yet there is another thing it will as effectually do — it will oppress and ruin the people." -Patrick Henry 4. "Nothing is more certain than the indispensable necessity of government, and it is equally undeniable, that whenever and however it is instituted, the people must cede to it some of their natural rights in order to vest it with requisite powers." -John Jay 5. "[W]hen the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly advided their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government, and the surpations are guarded against, by a division of the government in distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct any separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power of the Federalist Papers? Read the primary source quotes in the right column from members of the Federalist and Antifederalist parties- For each quote, determine whether it was said by a Federalist or Anti-Federalist. RIEFLY EXPLAIN YOUR REASONING FOR EACH QUOTE. 3. "We are cautioned by the honorable gentleman, who presides, against faction and turbulence. I acknowledge that licentiousness is dangerous, and that it ought to be provided against: a Lacknowledge, also, the new form of government may effectually prevent it: yet there is another thing it will as effectually do — it will oppress and ruin the people."—Patrick Henry 4. "Nothing is more certain than the indispensable necessity of government, and it is equally undeniable, that whenever and however it is instituted, the people must cede to it some of their natural rights in order to vest it with requisite powers."—John Jay 5. "[Wijhen the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." -Robert Yates 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government, and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government to distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."		agreed to the Bill of Rights as a compromise
Read the primary source quotes in the right column from members of the Federalist and Antifederalist parties. For each quote, determine whether it was said by a Federalist or Anti-federalist Or Anti-fede
Read the primary source quotes in the right column from members of the Federalist and Antifederalist parties. For each quote, determine whether it was said by a Federalist or Anti-federalist. BRIEFLY EXPLAIN YOUR REASONING FOR EACH QUOTE. 1. "Our country is too large to have all affairs directed by a single government." 2. In pursuance of the plan which I have laid down for the discussion of the subject, the point next in order to be examined is the "insufficiency of the present Confederation to the preservation of the Union." -Alexander Hamilton Confederation to the preservation of the Union." -Alexander Hamilton and turbulence. I acknowledge that licentiousness is dangerous, and that it ought to be provided against: I acknowledge, also, the new form of government may effectually prevent it: yet there is another thing it will as effectually do — it will oppress and ruin the people." -Patrick Henry 4. "Nothing is more certain than the indispensable necessity of government, and it is equally undeniable, that whenever and however it is instituted, the people must cede to it some of their natural rights in order to vest it with requisite powers." -John Jay 5. "[W]hen the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their ruiers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government to distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governme
-Thomas Jefferson -Thomas Jeffe	• right column from members of the Federalist and Antifederalist parties. For each quote, determine whether it was said by a Federalist or Anti-federalist and Sand Branch State (State State Stat members of the Federalist and Antifederalist parties. For each quote, determine whether it was said by a Federalist. BRIEFLY EXPLAIN YOUR REASONING FOR EACH QUOTE. 3. "We are cautioned by the honorable gentleman, who presides, against faction and turbulence. I acknowledge that licentiousness is dangerous, and that it ought to be provided against: I acknowledge, also, the new form of government may effectually prevent it: yet there is another thing it will as effectually do — it will oppress and ruin the people." -Patrick Henry 4. "Nothing is more certain than the indispensable necessity of government, and it is equally undeniable, that whenever and however it is instituted, the people must cede to it some of their natural rights in order to vest it with requisite powers." -John Jay 5. "[When the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." -Robert Yates 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."		- I nomas Jefferson Pederalist and Antifederalist parties. For each quote, determine whether it was said by a Federalist or Anti-federalist. BRIFEIY EXPLAIN YOUR REASONING FOR EACH QUOTE. 3. "We are cautioned by the honorable gentleman, who presides, against faction and turbulence. I acknowledge that licentiousness is dangerous, and that it ought to be provided against: I acknowledge, also, the new form of government may effectually prevent it: yet there is another thing it will as effectually do — it will oppress and ruin the people." -Patrick Henry 4. "Nothing is more certain than the indispensable necessity of government, and it is equally undeniable, that whenever and however it is instituted, the people must cede to it some of their natural rights in order to vest it with requisite powers." -John Jay 5. "[W]hen the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."
Antifederalist parties. For each quote, determine whether it was said by a Federalist or Anti-federalist. BRIEFLY EXPLAIN YOUR REASONING FOR EACH QUOTE. 3. "We are cautioned by the honorable gentleman, who presides, against faction and turbulence. I acknowledge that licentiousness is dangerous, and that it ought to be provided against: I acknowledge, also, the new form of government may effectually prevent it: yet there is another thing it will as effectually do — it will oppress and ruin the people." "Patrick Henry 4. "Nothing is more certain than the indispensable necessity of government, and it is equally undeniable, that whenever and however it is instituted, the people must cede to it some of their natural rights in order to vest it with requisite powers." -John Jay 5. "[W]hen the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will controll each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."
Antifederalist parties. For each quote, determine whether it was said by a Federalist or Anti-federalist. BRIEFLY EXPLAIN YOUR REASONING FOR EACH QUOTE. 3. "We are cautioned by the honorable gentleman, who presides, against faction and turbulence. I acknowledge that licentiousness is dangerous, and that it ought to be provided against: I acknowledge, also, the new form of government may effectually prevent it: yet there is another thing it will as effectually do — it will oppress and ruin the people." -Patrick Henry 4. "Nothing is more certain than the indispensable necessity of government, and it is equally undeniable, that whenever and however it is instituted, the people must cede to it some of their natural rights in order to vest it with requisite powers." -John Jay 5. "[W]hen the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." -Robert Yates 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."		2. In pursuance of the plan which I have laid down for the discussion of the subject.
determine whether it was said by a Federalist or Anti-federalist. BRIEFLY EXPLAIN YOUR REASONING FOR EACH QUOTE. 3. "We are cautioned by the honorable gentleman, who presides, against faction and turbulence. I acknowledge that licentiousness is dangerous, and that it ought to be provided against: I acknowledge, also, the new form of government may effectually prevent it: yet there is another thing it will as effectually do — it will oppress and ruin the people." -Patrick Henry 4. "Nothing is more certain than the indispensable necessity of government, and it is equally undeniable, that whenever and however it is instituted, the people must cede to it some of their natural rights in order to vest it with requisite powers." -John Jay 5. "[W]hen the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." -Robert Yates 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."
was said by a Federalist or Anti-federalist. BRIEFLY EXPLAIN YOUR REASONING FOR EACH QUOTE. 3. "We are cautioned by the honorable gentleman, who presides, against faction and turbulence. I acknowledge that licentiousness is dangerous, and that it ought to be provided against: I acknowledge, also, the new form of government may effectually prevent it: yet there is another thing it will as effectually do — it will oppress and ruin the people." -Patrick Henry 4. "Nothing is more certain than the indispensable necessity of government, and it is equally undeniable, that whenever and however it is instituted, the people must cede to it some of their natural rights in order to vest it with requisite powers." -John Jay 5. "[W]hen the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."	=	Confederation to the preservation of the Union." -Alexander Hamilton or Anti-federalist. BRIEFLY EXPLAIN YOUR REASONING FOR EACH QUOTE. 3. "We are cautioned by the honorable gentleman, who presides, against faction and turbulence. I acknowledge that licentiousness is dangerous, and that it ought to be provided against: I acknowledge, also, the new form of government may effectually prevent it: yet there is another thing it will as effectually do — it will oppress and ruin the people." -Patrick Henry 4. "Nothing is more certain than the indispensable necessity of government, and it is equally undeniable, that whenever and however it is instituted, the people must cede to it some of their natural rights in order to vest it with requisite powers." -John Jay 5. "[W]hen the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."
and turbulence. I acknowledge that licentiousness is dangerous, and that it ought to be provided against: I acknowledge, also, the new form of government may effectually prevent it: yet there is another thing it will as effectually do — it will oppress and ruin the people." -Patrick Henry 4. "Nothing is more certain than the indispensable necessity of government, and it is equally undeniable, that whenever and however it is instituted, the people must cede to it some of their natural rights in order to vest it with requisite powers." -John Jay 5. "[W]hen the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." -Robert Yates 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."	- ought to be provided against: I acknowledge, also, the new form of government may effectually prevent it: yet there is another thing it will as effectually do — it will oppress and ruin the people." -Patrick Henry 4. "Nothing is more certain than the indispensable necessity of government, and it is equally undeniable, that whenever and however it is instituted, the people must cede to it some of their natural rights in order to vest it with requisite powers." -John Jay 5. "[W]hen the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." -Robert Yates 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government ind distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."
may effectually prevent it: yet there is another thing it will as effectually do — it will oppress and ruin the people." -Patrick Henry 4. "Nothing is more certain than the indispensable necessity of government, and it is equally undeniable, that whenever and however it is instituted, the people must cede to it some of their natural rights in order to vest it with requisite powers." -John Jay 5. "[W]hen the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." -Robert Yates 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."
will oppress and ruin the people." -Patrick Henry 4. "Nothing is more certain than the indispensable necessity of government, and it is equally undeniable, that whenever and however it is instituted, the people must cede to it some of their natural rights in order to vest it with requisite powers." -John Jay 5. "[W]hen the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." -Robert Yates 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."
4. "Nothing is more certain than the indispensable necessity of government, and it is equally undeniable, that whenever and however it is instituted, the people must cede to it some of their natural rights in order to vest it with requisite powers." -John Jay 5. "[W]hen the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." -Robert Yates 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."	QUOTE.
is equally undeniable, that whenever and however it is instituted, the people must cede to it some of their natural rights in order to vest it with requisite powers." -John Jay 5. "[W]hen the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." -Robert Yates 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."
is equally undeniable, that whenever and however it is instituted, the people must cede to it some of their natural rights in order to vest it with requisite powers." -John Jay 5. "[W]hen the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." -Robert Yates 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."
is equally undeniable, that whenever and however it is instituted, the people must cede to it some of their natural rights in order to vest it with requisite powers." -John Jay 5. "[W]hen the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." -Robert Yates 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."
must cede to it some of their natural rights in order to vest it with requisite powers." -John Jay 5. "[W]hen the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." -Robert Yates 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."
5. "[W]hen the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." -Robert Yates 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."
5. "[W]hen the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." -Robert Yates 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."
again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." -Robert Yates 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."		powerssommay
again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." -Robert Yates 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."
voluntarily increased the powers of their rulers; but few, if any, in which rulers have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." -Robert Yates 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."		5. "[W]hen the people once part with power, they can seldom or never resume it have willingly abridged their authority. This is a sufficient reason to induce you to be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." -Robert Yates 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."		again but by force. Many instances can be produced in which the people have be careful, in the first instance, how you deposit the powers of government." -Robert Yates 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."
-Robert Yates 6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."
6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."
to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."		-Robert Yates
to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."
to the administration of a single government; and the usurpations are guarded against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."		6. "First. In a single republic, all the power surrendered by the people, is submitted against, by a division of the government into distinct and separate departments. In the compound republic of America, the power surrendered by the people, is first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."
first divided between two distinct governments, and then the portion allotted to each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."
each subdivided among distinct and separate departments. Hence a double security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."
security arises to the rights of the people. The different governments will control each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."		· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
each other; at the same time that each will be controlled by itself."		· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
-James Madison
		Junics Madison

Write the words of the Preamble in your own words in the right column "In Your Own Words."

Preamble	In your own words
We the People of the United States,
In Order to form a more perfect Union,
Establish justice,
Insure (ensure) domestic tranquility,
Provide for the common
defense,
Promote the general
Welfare,
And secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves
and our posterity,
Do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America

Directions: Use the Word Bank below to fill in the blanks in the "Constitutional Table of Contents."

Word Bank

Legislative	Amended	Constitution	Executive	Federalism
Purpose	States	Steps	Judicial

Constitutional Table of Contents

Section	The sections below of the Constitution, answer these questions:	Key Information
Preamble	What does the Constitution do? What is the of the government?	This is the introduction to the constitution.
Article I	How does the branch create laws?	Congress is made up of the Senate and the House of Representatives.
Article II	How does the branch carry out laws?	The president is the head of this branch.
Article III	How does the branch interpret these laws?	The Supreme Court can decide if laws or actions made by the other branches are constitutional or not.

generations.

Article IV	How should the get along with ea	ach other?	States have to respect each other's laws. Example: A driver's license can be used in any of the 50 states.
Article V	How can the Constitution be,	or changed?	2/3 both houses of Congress must vote to propose an amendment and 3/4 of the state legislatures must vote to approve it.
Article VI	How does work? Which law is	supreme?	The Constitution is the "supreme law of the land."
Article VII	What have to be taken to make t the law of the land?	he Constitution	The Bill of Rights was added to the Constitution before it was ratified , or approved.
Amendments	What changes have been made to the	?	There are 27 amendments.
	Sample Test Questions about this unit of Reflections workbooks, or general internet se		ormation from eCampus/class websites, your
A. The nate of the control of the co	counding Fathers decide to replace the Articles of ith a new constitution? SS.7.C.1.5 cional government under the Articles could not icles were only supposed to be a temporary esident had too much power. tes were calling for a new constitution.	U.S. Constitution A. It define government. B. It create C. It estab	ent explains the purpose of the Preamble to the n? SS.7.C.1.6 es the responsibilities of the three branches of es a domestic policy for the federal government. dishes the rights and responsibilities of citizens. the goals of the U.S. Constitution.
Constitution? SS A. Anti-Fee without a list of ri B. Anti-Fee be harder to ratiff C. Federal be easier to ratify	deralists would not support the U.S. Constitution ights being promised. deralists convinced the Federalists that it would y with a bill of rights. ists convinced the Anti-Federalists that it would with a bill of rights. ists would not support the Constitution without	used to justify th	e of government found in the Preamble could be ne position in this passage? Either you are with us, or you are with the terrorists. From this day forward, any nation that continues to harbor or support terrorism will be regarded by the United States ashostile eorge W. Bush, State of the Union Address, January 29, 2002.
A. To prov B. To mair C. To prov common good.	t is a goal of government according to the Preamble of Constitution? SS.7.C.1.6 To provide public education. To maintain a strong national bank. To promote the rights of government over the		tee of cooperation among Americans e the quality of life for Americans he freedoms of American people American people from threats

II. The Bill of Rights and other Amendments: Chapter 6 (Includes "Amending the Constitution")

Amending the Constitution
What is the process/steps to amend the US
Constitution?

Why did the Founding Fathers include the amendment process
in the constitution?
The Bill of Rights
	ch Amendment to the Bill of Rights. Following, describe what each amendment means and how it relates to events leading Amendment I
Amendment II
Amendment III
A 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1
Amendment IV
Amendment V
Amenument v
Amendment VI
Amendment VII
Amendment VIII
Amendment IX
Amendment X

Vocabulary Review: Define the following terms in relation to the Federal Government:
Amend
Ratify
Suffrage
Caucus
Civil disobedience
Civil Rights
Poll Tax
Black Codes
Segregation
Accused
Ordain
Precedent
Rule of Law
Equal
ex post- facto
Habeas corpus
States' rights
Double jeopardy
Due Process
Eminent-domain
Search and seizure/Search
Warrant
What were the 13 th , 14 th , 15 th , 19 th , 24 th , and 26 th amendments and how did they impact/influence the landscape of the United States? Amendment 13:

	•	Amendment 14:
	•	Amendment 15:
	•	Amendment 19:
	•	Amendment 24:
	•	Amendment 26:
Sample Test Questions for this unit:
Can you answer these sample test questions about this unit correctly? Use information from eCampus/class websites, your online text/My Reflections workbooks, or genera

Which is an example of unprotected speech?
 SS.7.C.2.4

A. criticizing the government in a newspaper

B. placing a political campaign sign in your yard

- C. publishing lies about another person
- D. publicly disagreeing with a new law

2. Which 1st Amendment right are parents exercising when they sign a statement asking that a new school be built in their community?

SS.7.C.2.4

- A. assembly
- B. petition
- C. protest
- D. religion

1923: The Equal Rights Amendment is introduced in Congress.

1972: The Equal Rights Amendment is voted on by Congress with a seven year deadline.

1977: The Equal Rights Amendment is ratified by 35 states.

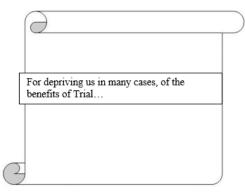

1978: The Equal Rights Amendment deadline is extended to 1982.

1982: The Equal Rights Amendment fails.

- 6. Why did this amendment fail? SS.7.C.3.5
- A. It was not ratified by the President.
- B It was not ratified by the Senate.
- C. It was not ratified by 38 states.
- D. It was not ratified by 50 states.
- 7. Which can vote on ratification of amendments to the U.S. Constitution? SS.7.C.3.5
- A. president and vice-president
- B. state Supreme Courts
- C. state legislatures
- D. federal courts

- 3. Which group is the primary focus of the Bill of Rights? SS.7.C.2.4
- A. politicians
- B. individuals
- C. cities
- D. states

The phrase below is one of the grievances found in the Declaration of Independence.

Source: U.S. National Archives and Records Administration

- 4. Which rights listed in the Bill of Rights reflect this complaint? SS.7.C.2.4
- A. equal protection, protection from cruel and unusual punishment, protection from self-incrimination.
- B. equal protection, protection from double jeopardy, protection from self-incrimination.
- C. due process of law, right to confront witnesses, right to eminent domain.
- D. due process of law, right to confront witnesses, right to counsel

Robert is unhappy with the current political party in Presidential office. He decides to publicly voice his opinions in the middle of the city square with a speech outlining the faults of the party, the mistakes of the President, and the overall decline of the administration.

- 5. This is an example of which First Amendment right? $$.7.C.2.4
- A. Freedom of religion
- B. Freedom of speech
- C. Freedom of the press
- D. Freedom to petition the government

8. The statement below was written by Thomas Jefferson.

No society can make a perpetual (permanent) constitution, or even a perpetual (permanent) law.

Source: Letter to James Madison from Paris, September 6, 1789.

Which conclusion does the statement support? SS.7.C.3.5

- A. The amendment process allows the U.S. Constitution to reflect citizens' views over time.
- B. The amendment process makes sure that the U.S. Constitution is formally approved.
- C. The ratification process allows the U.S. Constitution to reflect presidents' views over time.
- D. The ratification process makes sure that the U.S. Constitution is formally approved.

9. The cartoon to the left shows an American woman in 1909.

What impact on political participation is shown is shown by this cartoon?

SS.7.C.3.7

- A. parental rights for women
- B. voting rights for women
- C. custody rights for men
- D. equal rights for men

Source: Library of Congress

- 10. Why was the U.S. Constitution amended to abolish poll taxes?
 SS.7.C.3.7
- A. To permit more eligible citizens to buy property.
- B. To permit resident aliens to buy property.
- C. To permit more eligible citizens to vote.
- D. To permit resident aliens to vote.
- 11. What was the major impact of the 13th, 14th, 15th, 19th, 24th and 26th amendment to the U.S. Constitution? SS.7.C.3.7
- A. They decreased minority participation in the political process.
- B. They decreased minority participation in social movements.
- C. They increased minority participation in the political process.
- D. They increased minority participation in the military.

III. Landmark Supreme Court Cases

Summarize the background and significance of each case below:
Gideon v. Wainwright
Miranda v. Arizona
Tinker v. Des Moines
Time v. bes Fidiles
Hazelwood v
Kuhlmeier
Kunimeier
N. 1
Marbury v. Madison
Plessy v. Ferguson
Brown v. Board of Education
in re Gault
m ro dame
United States v. Nixon
Officed States V. Mixoff
Bush v. Gore
Sample Test Questions for this unit:
Can you answer these sample test questions about this unit corre
text/My Reflections workbooks, or general internet searches if ne
1. What U.S. Supreme Court decision could high school	4. Which of the following has NOT occurred as a result of the students use to defend their right to wear t-shirts with a	decision in Marbury v. Madison (1803)? SS.7.C.3.12 skull-and-bones design on campus? SS.7.C.3.12	A. The U.S. Supreme Court has played a key role in
A. Tinker v. Des Moines (1969)	interpreting the U.S. Constitution.
B. Wisconsin v. Yoder (1972)	B. A constitutional amendment was ratified that
C. Texas v. Johnson (1989)	specifically defined "judicial review."
D. Bush v. Gore (2000)	C. A law can be thrown out if it violates the U.S.
	Constitution.
	D. The concept of checks and balances was upheld.

- 2. Many Florida schools remain under desegregation orders as a result of which U.S. Supreme Court case? SS.7.C.3.12
- A. District of Columbia v. Heller (2008)
- B. Brown v. Board of Education (1954)
- C. Tinker v. Des Moines (1969)
- D. U.S. v. Lopez (1995)
- What lessons did future U.S. leaders learn from the 1974
 U.S Supreme Court case United States v. Nixon?
 SS.7.C.3.12
- A. The president is accountable for obeying the law.
- B. The president is responsible for enforcing the law.
- C. The president is not allowed to hold secret talks with foreign governments.
- D. The president is not allowed to have private meetings with cabinet members.

- 5. Which U.S. Supreme Court decision could cause confessions to be thrown out as evidence? $$S.7.C.3.12
 - A. Gideon v. Wainwright (1963)
 - B. Marbury v. Yoder (1803)
 - C. Miranda v. Arizona (1966)
 - D. Plessy v. Ferguson (1896)
- 6. When the U.S. Supreme Court makes a decision in a case, how is their opinion on the case determined? SS.7.C.3.8
- A. by a unanimous vote
- B. by a two-thirds vote
- C. by a three-fourths vote
- D. by a simple majority vote

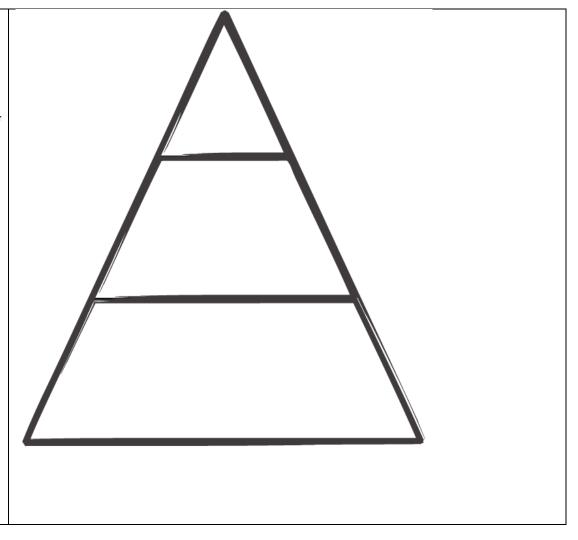

IV. The American Legal System

1. The Pyramid to the right represents the Federal Court System.

Write in the different LEVELS of the Federal court system in the pyramid, with the lowest level starting at the bottom.

Use the word bank below:

Supreme Court, District Court, Appellate Court

Use th	e word bank below to fill in the blanks.
The	interprets/gives their opinion on the laws. If a law is, as it follows the rules of the Constitution. If a law is, it means that it is or goes against the Constitution in some way. The has the power of it mear	ns it follows the rules of the Constitution. If a law is, it means that it violate	s or goes against the Constitution in some way. Thehas the power of , which means they can decide if a law violates the Constititon or not. If they decide e law does violate the Constititon, then they can cancel or the law.
Uncon	Word Bank: Stitutional, Judicial Review, Constitutional, Supreme Court, Nullify, Judicial Branch
	Types of Law
	ions: Match each scenario below with the correct type of law and BRIEFLY explain your choice.
Types	of Law to choose from: Criminal Law, Civil Law, Constitutional Law, Military Law, Case Law, Juvenile Law
1.	In 2009, Army Sgt. Bowe Bergdahl left his post in Afghanistan without permission from his commanding officer. He faced a court martial after being charged with desertion. What type of law is this and why?
2.	When the Supreme Court had to make a decision in the Tinker v. Des Moines (1969) case, they refered to another case from 1967. In Hammond v. South Carolina State College, the Supreme Court ruled that people in public schools are protected by constitutional rights. This case set a precedent , or established a type of law that the Supreme Court would follow. Tinker v. Des Moines would act as a precedent for hundreds of cases that would come after it as well. What type of law is this and why?
3.	Under Section 1003.26 of the Florida State Statute, truancy is defined as an offense that can be charged to any student of elementary school age through age 16 who has accumulated 15 or more unexcused absences in a three month period without the knowledge of their parent or guardian. A court can issue several different types of punishments on minors and parents including mandatory summer school, being remanded to a detention center, probation, etc What type of law is this and why?
4.	Markeith Loyd was arrested after being accused of killing his pregnant ex-girlfriend in December and an Orlando officer in January. He will stand trial for murder. What type of law is this and why?
5.	USA Today reported that President Donald Trump has been sued as a defendant 1,450 times. Also, Trump has sued others as a plaintiff 1,900 times. In one case, Trump sued a marketing agency calling itself "Trump your Competiton" for using his name to make a profit without permission or royalties. What type of law is this and why?
6.	Obergefell v. Hodges (2015), is a landmark United States Supreme Court case in which the Court held in a 5–4 decision that the fundamental right to marry is guaranteed to same-sex couples by both the Due Process Clause and the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution. What type of law is this and why?

Vocabulary Review: Define the following terms in relation to the American Legal System and provide examples where applicable.
The Rule of Law
Jury
Evidence
Felony
Misdemeanor
Lawsuit
Statute
Writ of Habeas Corpus
Ex post facto law
Bail
Plaintiff
Defendant
Summons
The parts of the trial process are in order below. (1-7) Match up the parts of the trial process with the correct definition by writing the correct letter next to each part.
1. Opening Statement	A. The lawyer who called the witness asks the witness the first set of questions.
2. Direct Examination	B. The lawyer sums up the evidence for the jury and asks the jury to rule in his or her client's favor.
3. Cross Examination	C. The jury's decision in the case. D. The lawyer tells the jury what the case is about and what the
4. Re-direct Examination	evidence will show. E. The lawyer who did not call the witness asks the witness
5. Closing Statement	questions in order to point out weaknesses in the witness's testimony.
6. Jury Deliberation	F. The jury looks over the evidence from the case. G. The lawyer who called the witness asks the witness
7. Verdict	questions in order to counter the cross-examination.

Sample Test Questions for this unit:

Can you answer these sample test questions about this unit correctly? Use information from eCampus/class websites, your online text/My Reflections workbooks, or general internet searches if need be.

- 1. Which option completes the trial process? SS.7.C.3.11
 - A. cross-examination
 - B. jury instructions
 - C. investigation
 - D. verdict
- 2. Which court completes the diagram? SS.7.C.3.11

- A. Court of Veterans Appeals
- B. Court of Appeals
- C. Military Courts
- D. Claims Courts
- 3. The table below lists examples of laws:

Category A	Category B
Assault	Adoption
Murder	Contract Disputes
Theft	Personal Injury
Category C	Category D
Abandonment of post	Discrimination
Conduct unbecoming of an officer	Eminent domain
Mutiny	Treason

Which category list represents military law? SS.7.C.3.10

- A. Category A
- B. Category B
- C. Category C
- D. Category D

4. What does this court decision illustrate? SS.7.C.3.11

In 1940, the Texas Democratic Party refused to give an African-American man a ballot to select candidates to run for Congress and governor.

In finding this action unconstitutional "...this Court is not constrained to follow a previous decision which..., involves the application of a constitutional principle, rather than an interpretation of the Constitution to evolve the principle itself."

- A. The court has the power to accept appeals cases.
- B. The court has the power of judicial review.
- C. The court is a district court.
- D. The court is a trial court.
- 5. Which type of law is used to resolve disputes between Congress and the President? SS.7.C.3.10
 - A. civil
 - B. constitutional
 - C. criminal
 - D. military
- 6. The scenario below involves damage to someone's property.

Last Saturday, a driver was ticketed for speeding through a neighborhood and crashing into a fence. The fence owner is suing the driver $2500.00 for the cost to repair the fence.

What court would hear this case? SS.7.C.3.11

- A. appeals
- B. civil
- C. criminal
- D. family
- 7. The passage below describes a dispute between two neighbors in Florida.

Liz's 16 year old daughter backed into Doug's car while it was parked in front of his house. Doug sued Liz for $1500 to cover the cost of repairing the car.

Which court heard the case? SS.7.C.3.11

- A. Circuit Court of Appeals
- B. Florida Supreme Court
- C. appellate court
- D. county court